To she who I love the most:

There are simply no words to describe and express how I feel about you and your music. You always remain positive no matter what has happened. You are one of the most genuine and honest artist out there. Your music truly does come straight from your heart. You are extremely talented and you deserve everything you have, since you worked so hard to get to where you're at. You have an amazing voice and you are drop-dead gorgeous. You can make any person laugh and your smile is brighter than the stars in the nighttime sky. You are the reason I wake up every day. You are my motivation as well as my inspiration to follow my dreams.

I encourage you to keep doing what you are currently doing. Just block out the haters! After all, you make so many people happy. Never give up!

I wish you the best of luck throughout your career and I hope you will come to your hometown more often. I have seen you in concert once before but I would love to see you as much as possible. My life would be complete if I could meet you in person. That would be a miracle. Anyways just know that you are loved. You are BLESSED!!! Use the advantage that you are very well-liked to make the world a better place. Your family is proud and so am I of all that you have achieved. You are such a success.

Your #1 fan
